

Old Age

Old Age is a sly volcano,
A pyroclastic flow
Which seals with its cold tephra
The contortions of one's life
In all the mistakes and triumphs
Recorded in its lines;
And statuesque
Are the proportions of excess and lack
In permanence, for all to see
The life you've led
In naked judgement.

DAVID MANDEVILLE